Geisha Smackdown Christina Bell

Geisha Smackdown is a collection of 34 essays that shine a light on what is brilliant, absurd, and hilarious in everyday life. Christina Bell spent eight years in Japan actively seeking absurdity and splendor, both in the back streets of Tokyo and in her own house. From Japanese daycare to the world's largest wooden penis, she shows us a side of Japan that can't be covered in most travel books. Geisha Smackdown isn't just a memoir of Japan. It's a memoir of what it means to live, work, and raise children in a world where everything you thought you knew is irrelevant.
