The world press has unceremoniously dubbed her 'Dizzy Lizzy'. The King, still weak from his heart attack, tells her that Alex sees her as a passing fad. Worse still, the beautiful Lady Tatiana - still officially engaged to the prince - seeks Liz out for a very private and secret arrangement.

But Liz is not prepared for the sudden curveball that Alex throws her.

An amazing read!

The passion and heat between Liz and Alex is sizzling hot as one would expect but they also show such amazing togetherness and caring too.

As we all know the press can be a nightmare for everyone and they make no exception for Liz, which causes her heartache and makes her doubt her worth. But Alex really is wonderful when it comes to making Liz feel loved.

Alex is hiding a secret that others use against Liz but he is determined to marry her and goes the extra mile to prove they are made for each other.

Then his father dies leaving him king....will this be the end for them?

This little series is emotional intense and passionate.....very well written with alot packed in between the pages.

This series has been nothing but perfect for me. Stealth ninjas inside my room have been cutting onions from the moment Liz wrote the note until the end of the book. I couldn't stop crying!

Sandie says

Still a good story. Too bad Liz doesn't have anybody in her corner except for Alex.

Liz and Alex have turned the tide of public opinion in their favor, however the royals still disapprove because of her lack of pedigree (as if she's a dog ...smdh). She meets Alex's supposed fiancée Tatiana, who attempts to convince Liz that she would be the better wife for Alex, not Liz. But Alex believe otherwise and stops Liz at the airport when she tries to leave and proposes. It was sweet.

Wow so I was really enjoying this series until the last page. It ended very abruptly. I definitely think a lot of their problems were solved at the end. But I still would have liked to see how everyone reacted to his decision to marry Liz, especially now that he is King. I have a feeling that his mother and sister would not be as outspoken about his choice in a wife, but I'm not sure, I would have liked to see read about that. I would have liked to read the conversation that inevitably would take place between Liz and Tatiana. I would have liked to read an epilogue of their wedding, or wedding night, or them bringing their first child into the world. I wanted more closure. A glimpse into their future. Because books 2 and 3 made it glaringly obvious Liz was going to have a hard time fitting in. I think the Country accepted her, but his family did not. I wanted some acceptance there.

I loved how honest Liz and Alex were with each other. Their problems were not created by themselves being insecure. They were created by everyone around them. And up until the end Liz always told him what was bothering her whenever he asked. I loved the ending, despite the fact that I thought it was abrupt. But I loved that even when Liz was trying to spout what she thought were good reasons to leave, he saw right through her and called he on it. He could read her so well and knew her heart even after the short time they had spent together.

Oh well, overall I really enjoyed this story though. It was really cute. Every girls dream right? To have a Prince fall in love with her. And Alex was such a sweet, honest, caring Prince who so obviously adored Liz. It was easy to fall in love with these two.

I did catch one error. In books 1 and 2 the Country was Moldovia. But in this book it was Moldavia.
