I received the Apple Delights Cookbook as part of a Goodreads giveaway.

A nice, thick selection of apple-centric recipes just in time for fall. Nothing fancy--the recipes and ingredients are simple--easy to assemble from the offerings at your local supermarket. As you might expect, there's an emphasis on the sweet--baked goods and jellies in particular, though there is a small but interesting selection of savory recipes like Apple Cheddar Pie with Sweet Potato Crust.

Given the change in seasons, I'm excited to get started on these as the leaves turn.

I received the Apple Delights Cookbook as part of a Goodreads giveaway.

I entered the giveaway because of my mom: she's the one who cooks in our family and she really likes to try new recipes.

So when I saw the giveaways listed by Karen Jean Matsko Hood, I didn't even hesitate and I was lucky enough to win this book.

Even if I'm not so much of a cook myself, I can tell the recipes are very easy to make and the instructions really understandable. The baked goods sound delicious and my mom is already making a list with the first ones she wants to try.

I can even try myself some of the them.

The book is simple but what makes it more valuable are the "extras": poems, infos on health and different kinds of apples and history of them.

Last but not least, since my mom and I are Italian, we find the section about measures and their conversion on metric system extremely useful.

Like I said, English is not my mother tongue so feel free to correct any mistake I could have possibly made.

So back in april I was Lucky (not so much really) to win this book on the goodreads giveaways and to this day Nov 2nd I haven't received my copy yet. I've already sent a message to Karen, the author, to know why I Haven't gotten my copy yet and She hasn't replied. By the way she was in charge of the giveaways and not another person. I was wondering if someone could tell me how to get in touch with her or tell my what is happening here. thanks guys :)
