Loved It

The Sweet Cove series is one of my favorites. The Roseland sisters have intriguing gifts. I like the recipes at the end. Couldn't guess the identity of the killer. Glad to learn more about Mr Finch. I love the difference between the 2 cats. Nice surprise about Angie and Jenna.

Unrequited love or plain old fashioned jealousy

Another winner. A terrific plot loved the twists and turns but just wish that all the guilty could have been held responsible. Shame the cats had such a small role.

She is on her daily rounds of baked goods when the owner of the boarding house comes running out in a panic. One of the boarders cannot be woken up. On investigation the boarder died through an overdose of a drug he used to fight his migraines. Was it self administered in error or was it cold blooded murder. The more the sisters, Mr Finch and the Captain look into it the more they uncover. However the going is slow as information comes piecemeal. Further Angie has been offered the chance to expand her business into the bakery. Her feelings are mixed. Will she have enough time for everything? What if a family comes sooner than she thinks? As another "threat" is made to a boarder will the sisters find the killer before it's too late?

Sweet mysteries

J.A. Whitney's Sweet Cove mystery books are short but sweet. The characters are interesting and very real. I wasn't sure how I would feel about the paranormal aspect but I really do think it adds to the plots and is a different spin. I especially enjoyed the very end of this book and the way their powers were involved. I do recommend this series though it's tough for me as I read too fast and finish them too quickly. Then I have to wait for the next one to come out!

As usual, the series is a light and easy read, with plenty of little details and a continuing storyline that showed a good amount of development in this installment. I already can't wait for the next one! Perfect for a relaxing read and a good story to get lost in for a bit.

Another Hit

I absolutely love these books. Always a nice interesting mystery and the family interactions along with Finch. Perfectly written characters and a real twist at the end. All cost mystery readers must read. If your new to cost mysteries start with book one. Character build ups are worth it.

some people can turn bitter!!!!

20 stars!!!!

I LOVED THIS BOOK!!!!

Wow, did the girls and chief Martin have a mind boggling case this time, so many had reasons, but who wanted it more was the $64 dollar question.

Angie has a live changing decision to make, and she and Jenna got closer in this book.

Mr Finch was helping when he could, but this person they were looking for was rear smart for awhile. Too much was going on to pinpoint exactly what happened.

You don't hear of boarding houses much anymore, but they still do exist.

YOU REALLY WON'T BE DISAPPOINTED!!!!

Hurry up J A Whiting, PLEASE write the next one, I can hardly wait for the next book. You loyal customers will also say the same. I brought HAPPY tears to my eyes.

Sharon says

As usual J A Whiting gives us a book that keeps us engaged and guessing until the end. Well written book continuing the saga of the Roseland sisters and friend Mr. Finch. In this book they solve the murder of a medical student while Angie contemplates the expansion of her baking business.

Reading this was worth every minute it took.

The connection between these sisters is enviable. The way they were so willing to help each other, and how they easily brought others into their family was heart warming. Through 15 books they've assisted the police in solving crimes, even when they knew their lives may be threatened. The writing was always high quality, the stories always interesting. This has been my favorite cozy so far.

This is the last book of the series, unless the author decides to add more. Please J. A., write more to this series!!

Jeannie and Louis Rigod says

I have to admit that I enjoyed this volume of mystery and murder as much as I did the very first book in this excellently written adventure of the four Roseland sisters and Mr. Finch. I am already waiting for the next volume and the endless possibilities presented by the enchanting ending.

Not as good as previous stories

This story was a little slow and circling the same facts.

Angie and Mr Finch are making deliveries. They get to the boarding house run and owned by Maribeth, when an uneasy feeling hits them both followed by Maribeth screaming for help.

Perry one of her long term boarders was not breathing.

After investigation they conclude it was murder.

The story was lacking a lot in intricacies in the murder and in the interactions of the family. It was lacking a lot of the fun and lighter moments that usually make these an enjoyable read. As stories go it was ok. The killer was a little too obvious which is not usual with this series.

A good read to pass the time but previous stories are a lot better. It is worth it if you are following the series.
