Kissing Steel Laurann Dohner

All Rena wanted was to steal back a spaceship and earn enough money to buy her freedom from her travesty of a life. Her mission to recover stolen property from pirates backfired and she became a possession when she encountered cyborgs instead. Now, one of them will own her. Rena is a survivor... and she wants the very tall, big, brutally sexy cyborg who doesn't like to share anything that belongs to him.

Steel is beyond irritated when he is maneuvered into ownership of a fragile human female. She's not nearly big enough to handle his size or strength, yet she's determined to get him into bed-into her. Steel realizes just what this little female is capable of when he awakens, chained to his bed, with her riding his very turned-on body. For a man who prides himself on his unyielding control, Steel soon finds Rena stripping him of it an inch at a time.

“I’m enjoying you right where you are so don’t you dare move. Don’t you cuddle after sex?”

“No.”

A laugh bubbled out of her at his horrified tone. “You do now.”

Gotta love a woman who knows what she wants and how to make the most out of even the worst situations. Rena volunteered for a mission to gain her freedom from a failed marriage, tired of keeping up appearances with her cheating husband, but her plans all turned to shit when she is captured and given as a gift.

“You don’t like to share women, you’re the biggest cyborg that I’ve seen and I know you don’t want me dead. That means that I want to stay with you.”

Rena realizes that she is safe, just as long as she can convince Steel to keep her. He isn’t too happy with his human, she is far too fragile and doesn’t think she has what it takes to satisfy a man like him, that was all the invitation Rena needed to prove to this man that she can take everything he can dish out and more.

...she was in control. It was kind of empowering and the sight of him tied down, muscles straining, turned her on more than she wanted to admit, feeling the wetness between her thighs.

Tired of putting herself out there, Rena has to accept that he is only willing to help her for right now and not for the long haul. Steel is looking for a life partner, who he can breed and fulfill his obligations with and sadly Rena doesn’t fit in that picture, no matter how much he want her to be. All they have is the few nights together until he sends her back to Earth.

“I’m a breeder who wants a woman I can’t have children with.” He sighed loudly. “Ironic, isn’t it?”

Kissing Steel, was such an unexpected love story, Steel is a logical man, he is so smart and controlled which drives Rena crazy. She’s a strong compassionate woman who shows Steel how to enjoy losing a bit of control. I totally devoured this book, I just wish it was a bit longer so I can spend more time with these two. (view spoiler) Can’t wait for the next one!

The author has created an interesting world here. These cyborgs are believed, by Earth, to be dead. Killed many decades ago. Many escaped and they've settled into their own society and laws for survival. Some of these 'ways' are very contradictory to the way humans think. Humans are possessions... Property to them, nothing more.

There are many conflicts, due to this, with the earth females they fall for. Steele was particularly stubborn about this. Consequently, the females in these stories have a tough time breaking through the walls around these cyborgs' hearts. They have hard feelings toward humans and they are also very logical. So acting on emotion is not normal for them. I like the females in these books, they are strong and yet very feminine. However, I do struggle when they have to work so hard to make these men love them. To the point of begging sometimes. Ouch, that's a tough one to swallow. The traditional woman in some of us may not always admit it, but we want the man to possess, protect, and pursue us....not the other way around.

Either way, I love this author's stories and can't wait until the next one. Great love scenes too.

Not great but still good

This was a fast paced cyborg romance. I would have rated it higher had I felt more closure with the ending. Everything just came together a bit too easily. An epilogue would have been a nice addition. While I didn't fall in love with this read, I still found it to be enjoyable for the most part. Ill read more in this series for sure.

5 Kissing Steel Stars

I am a FAN... Yep I remember reading these a long time ago but, I am loving them even more now.

I wasn't a fan of Steel in book 1 but he totally redeemed himself in this book. Rena is another human who really doesn't want to return to earth. And being caught up with the Cyborgs really isn't a hardship for her. Only she doesn't want to be passed around she takes a likening to Steel and does everything in her power to convince him she will be what he needs.

I loveeeeeeeed how this one ended.. I mean awe and swoon and awe. I don't want to give anything away but.. Yeah if you enjoyed book 1 you're going to love book 2.

Again Mindy does a fabulous job with the narrations. I love how she has the right kind of voice and tone for the cyborgs it's how I picture they would take.

You don't have to like my review but its 100% my opinion, and I am allowed to have it.

3 star re-read..

This was a 4 star read, but after re-reading it.. I think it's a 3 star as I liked it, but didn't like Steel as much as I loved Flint ;)

Also, I didn't like the fact that Rena had to beg a few times to get his attention and the whole begging thing was just an off-factor for me.

Still a good plot :)

Off to read more..

4 stars!

(Originally read on 10 October)

I'm giving this 4 stars only because I loved it a bit less than Flint's story.

Still.. It was awesome. It was quite different from the first one. And it hooked me from start to finish!

Beautiful work!

Another good one by LD. The cyborg world is interesting and our knowledge of it is expanding. We got a good glimpse of the females of the cyborg race in this one.

The characterization of Rena was very well done. She had a difficult life and was doing the best she could with it. When she is captured by the cyborgs she doesn't spend a lot of time fussing about it and trying to escape. She's realistic and knows that she is unlikely to get away since she is so far from home, she doesn't know how to pilot a space ship and the cyborgs have no reason to put themselves in danger taking her back to Earth. She looks around and decides that Steel is her best bet for staying safe in the cyborg world and does everything she can to stay with him even though he doesn't want to own a human. I like it when heroines look realistically at their situation and try to make the best of it. Being sassy and difficult just for the sake of the plot gets old.

Steel wants to marry a cyborg so that he can have a family and have children. He however is a very honorable man and does his best for Rena. He is not nearly as cruel as Flint in the first book. All of his decisions have a rationale behind them.

I found the relationship pretty believable in this one. You could definitely see the progression here of Steel falling for Rena. Looking forward to getting the next one downloaded and getting started on it.

yeah. i think i'm a bit weird. love the premise of this series. cyborgs. big, gigantic men with big, gigantic penises. human women - some brash, some wimpy, all soon consumed with the need to have sex with aforementioned big, gigantic penises.

don't get me wrong, though. this book is SF erotica. but the back story/world building is cool, and there is absolutely an emotional element. and although i may be a bit weird - i'm also evidently a bit of a puritan. because all the relationships end up being monogamous love matches.

le sigh. deep, impacting love + big, gigantic (gray!) penises = an awesome bath time read.

Steel & Rena Gates

Steel is just a sensitive Cyborg who is desperate to be part of a family unit. His female thought he was dead and replaced him with another male. Now, he is lonely and bitter and in search for a new family.

(Note: Due to the lack of females, the family units in the Cyborg world consist of three males and one female.)

Rena was captive by Flint (From book "Burning Up Flint") and she was given as a gift to Steel. Steel really does not know what to do with his new property and he is thinking to give it to another Cyborg who may share her with his mates.

Rena is desperate of course. She decides that if a Cyborg has to have her, she definitely prefers Steel. Although she is not very experienced in the seduction techniques, she will try to convince him to keep her.

I loved the way Rena is trying to seduce Steel. It is both funny and hot.

Rena is a strong-minded woman and a true survivor. She knows what she wants, she knows what she needs.

Steel is a nice, thoughtful guy. He may seem cold to an outsider, but he is thinking all the possibilities before he makes any fast decisions. When he falls in love with Rena, he already knows that things will become complicated.

Steel has already thought of the consequences and he will still fall in love with Rena and he will still keep her.

The two of them will arrive in Garden where a surprise is waiting for Rena.

The story is a bit rushed towards the end, but it is still very enjoyable.

Slightly better than the first book because the male character is actually pretty likable. The female character is another dumbass, but apparently you can't have everything in your cyborg-smut. It's not like there are tons of other choices if you want robot porn.... oh, there are? Eh, I've got this series sitting in front of me. I'll deal.

might as well embrace the suckiness..

Another great thing about this book that only halfway sucked is that the dubious consent is on the male instead of the female. Yup, she ties him up and forces him to accept her sexual advances. But, don't worry, she almost gets raped later. We wouldn't want a story where things go completely off kilter! It wouldn't be right if the girl doesn't have to deal with at least a couple of rape attempts. Cuz, that's sexy, right ladies?..... right?

oh shit. Can we ship him out into space?

So, this one sucked slightly less than the last one. Let's see what door number three holds, shall we?

I'M LOVING STEELE!!!

Steele is a big, sexy cyborg and he's a sweetie :) He's smart and logical. I don't know why, I always find a very logical person to be funny..you know, they're rigid and stick to their ways, look cold and detached. I know, I'm weird to think that's funny.

Anyway, Steele met Rena, an insurance investigator whose shuttle ship met the cyborg's starship. Rena was kept as a prisoner and was given to Steele.

Now..I love Rena! She knew what she wanted and smart enough to be realistic. She took charge of herself and decided to seduce Steele.

Steele needed a mate to breed but he believed that he should be in a family unit with a cyborg woman.

He needs to have little cyborg babies with one of his big cyborg women.

It's a fun, sweet, sexy and emotional story. The author built a new world with this series. I enjoyed it a lot. It's nice to get away from the real world once in a while :) Off to the next one!

3 stars

It should be three-point-five but GR doesn't have it and I wanted to give it four but it didn't reach to my level of satisfaction so... yeah.

What I Liked.

It was better than previous book. The book was a good read solely for enjoyment but not so on the quality though. It was quick read too! I finished reading it less than 24 hours.

I liked the heroine at first because she gave me an impression that she was a strong person, a fighter. She was indeed a strong one. It was just that she wasn't strong enough to my liking. Actually I was hoping she was an assassin. She did give a vibe of some sort. At least that would probably make things more interesting.

Another interesting part was that there was a forced seduction involved where the heroine had a total control over her cyborg. It got me giggling a lot during reading the part. Thumbs up for that, very unique.

Unlike previous male cyborg, Steel didn't prefer to bond with human female. He was all about honor and his service to his people regardless of his wants and needs. However, that changed though after Rena was given to him as a gift by Flint.

I somehow developed fondness with computer-talking Pod 3. Don't ask me why because I'm clueless myself.

What I disliked.

I got bored with the settings took place in this book. If it weren't in spaceship or in this case, Steel's bedroom, it'd be in the Garden, cyborg's world. I needed complex exploration. Yes, I'm that curious.

This cyborg polygamy stuff is started to get on my nerves. If the story was on cyborg people alone, with such lifestyle I wouldn't bother to make sense of it and I probably ignored it best. However, since humans were involved too, it was hard to put aside the distaste feeling.

There was no glimpse of previous couple and it was frustrating as well. Seriously, I'd love to know what happened to them.

I hope the series gets better as it goes. I loved Laurann Dohner's Zorn Warriors series and I hope to love Cyborg series too.

Read on your own peril.
