Dai once again shows his sadism. That train scene was intense! o_o dalam vol 2 ini menjelaskan keinginan beberapa tokohnya lepas dari bayang-bayang masa lalu & mendeskripsikan isi lubuk hati mereka yang paling dalam.

Realmente es un 3.5

Me gustó más que el primer tomo, aunque la historia no avanzó demasiado.

No entiendo el porqué, pero shipeo demasiado a Jaehee y Dai. Son demasiado lindos los dos juntos.

El problema es que Dai es un maldito. ¿Tiene sentido? Lo detesto pero al mismo tiempo me intriga.

Te comprendo Jaehee! D:

La historia realmente se está poniendo más interesante y necesito el tercer tomo ya!

El dibujo me parece precioso y hay frases muy bonitas y poéticas.

Me gustó especialmente la siguiente:

"Quizás la vida es como los cambiantes paisajes que vemos en las ventanas de un tren. Cada nuevo paisaje que acogen nuestros ojos momento a momento, estaban allí desde el principio. Es solo que parece nuevo para aquellos que lo ven por primera vez. Quizás el destino es algo que ya existe y se ha pre-asignado como el paisaje que se ve fuera de la ventana de un tren. "

¿Hermoso verdad?

4.5 Stars...

This is such of an absorbing story... and disturbing. This is distorted love, guys O_o

Jain says

Amorality's a turnoff for me, especially when it leads to innocent people being hurt. Even more problematic than amoral characters, however, are the people who love them. I can enjoy reading about Dai and feeling alternately sympathetic and disgusted, but watching Jaehee's attempts to rationalize his fascination with Dai is just annoying.

Meanwhile, the girls in the story, and particularly Eunhyung, are becoming more interesting than they were in the first volume.

Lord says

Although not so jaw-dropping as the first volume, the story flows without any faults and it's again a successful turn-pager. But nothing really important or exciting happens in this volume, thus only 4 stars from me.
