In The Corsair's Bed Ruby Dixon

As a pirate, I tend to hang out with unsavory outcasts at the edges of the known universe. I'm used to running into thieves, assassins and fugitives. It shouldn't surprise me to see a forbidden human female for sale in the tunnels of the space station, but I hate it. When I see she's near death, I have to act.

I buy her.

She spits in my face.

It's love at first sight.

At least, it's love at first sight on my end. I know it can never be, though, because I'm an ugly beast of an alien to her. The enemy. If only she knew just how many laws I'd be willing to break for one taste of her lips...

From Reader Review In The Corsair's Bed for online ebook

Mei says

This is a sweet re-enacting of the old Beauty and the Beast.

An ugly hero with a heart of gold and the patience of a saint.

An abused heroine with a steel-will to live.

Cute and endearing this books doesn't have any action i it, but it is only a falling in love and healing story.

T00zday says

Ruby Dixon is the literary equivalent of a hot cup of tea and a warm soft blanket on a winter night. Its just never bad.

This is another total SCORE in her aliens series.

This is separate from the Ice Planet Barbarians series, but same species of blue aliens with kidnapped humans.

Warm fuzzy rescue of a down but not out heroine by a big sweet teddy bear of an alien.

HFN ending

Recommended

Ivy Deluca says

Ms. Dixon writes some of my fave crackilicious series and I'm hooked. More serious, especially considering what Cat's gone through (possible triggers for those who have suffered rape, though it's in her past and happened offpage, the implication is clear and the state she meets Tarekh in is pretty bad). Novella length, so not alot of time to delve into her trauma but I think it's handled well and I completely bought into their love. I enjoyed it and definitely recommend for fans of alien sci-fi roms. Onto the next.

3 1/2 stars I really enjoyed this book, I loved the heroine and hero but I felt like the end was rushed a little. I wish the book had been little longer so we could have had more towards the end of the book

And Tarek is definitely adorably sweet. His big body and uneven face just conceal the kind hearted and gentle giant he is. As soon as he sees Cat, he just wants to protect her expecting nothing in return. How can a girl not fall in love with that? Cat certainly did. I loved Cat, she was strong with a cheeky sense of humour and completely clueless about that her favourite big blue alien was in love with her.

If you are a Dixon fan already then you will love this book, it's a great addition to the series and so far my favourite. Tarek and Cat were a fantastic couple, both were playful and protective of one another; a fatal combination. If you're not a fan that just means you haven't tried the books yet!

4.5 Stars.... only because the story is just too short.... It's sweet and the hero is just to die for!

Big Blue Horned Alien Hero ... check

Wounded Heroine.... Check

Sweet tenderness.....Check

HEA.... Check

But the story is just too short! That is my only complaint!

Ruby Rocks!

This first intrigued me when —>she spat in his face and he —>fell in love with her which was just so sassy so we read it...and we fucking loved it

Meet Cat. Yes another heroine named Cat but stick with me okay

“Did you just try to kill me? Kef, that’s cute.”

“Fuck you,” I tell him, frightened. ”

She is hella fierce despite everything she has gone through and doesn't put up with anyone's bullshit so cat is very accurate

She ends up on a pirate ship with some old fav characters which i mean space pirates fuck yeah lets do it

“Bit of a problem with one of the locals. We should probably head out.” He pauses for a moment. “And change our name. And our call signal. And our records.”

Sentorr groans, because that work falls on him. “What did you do?”

And then theres Tarekh the dream—so big and strong but so goddamn sweet

“Who you are is this person here. The fierce little human who does what she must to survive and spits in the face of danger. I love her. I loved her since I met her.”

Like you fuckers don't even know I love this man...alien...person.... whatever!

“I don't want her to know that I'm obsessed with her. That I've considered her mine ever since she tried to stab me in med-bay with my own needle”

He is the beastly medic on the ship who has been scarred and thinks he ugly and therefore when Cat tries to play games he is hella confused and its fucking cute:

“His horns flush. Tarekh tears his gaze away from my cleavage and then shoots me an incredulous look.

“This is a game?”

“A sexy game.”

Relief moves over his face and he rubs a big hand down his jaw. “You'll be the death of me, Cat. Little tease.”

“Shhh,” I tell him, nudging his leg with my boot. “Play along.”

He schools his features and clears his throat. “Sorry. Of course. What can this lowly medic do to help you, female?”

It was the perfect mix of cute but also sexy as fuck

“I grind down against him, rocking my hips in tune to the weird, lilting music of the cantina. “This tune's kinda catchy,” I say lightly. “Don't you think, Tarekh?”

“Quickly becoming one of my favorites,” I hear him say”

It was just a fun game of Cat and mouse..hehe... on a space ship and their banter quickly made them a favortie couple

Overall solid 4 star, like this is the one I reread when I want a good alien smut ?

Cat and Tarekh

When the Dancing Fool becomes the Lovesick Fool, it will have 5 passengers instead of 4. Fran is already part of the crew and very much in love with her Mesakkah pirate. Tarekh is the next crew member who will save a human female.

Poor Tarekh is really ugly for Mesakkah standards and as a result he lacks female companionship and affection. But he also has the kindest soul and he really cares as he is the Ship's medic.

Cat had been a slave for a while before Tarekh finds her and buys her. She is broken, weak, hungry and scared. When she realises that she is safe and nobody expects any sexual favours and payback from her, she will try her best to earn a place in the Dancing Fool. She will try also very hard to convince Tarekh that he is not a charity case and that she finds him very attractive (for a blue devil!).

"You're safe here," he tells me unnecessarily once more. It's like he feels he needs to keep saying it just so I know for sure, and that's kind of sweet.

"You might have mentioned that once or twice," I tell him.

I believe this is my favourite book of the series. Tarekh and Cat have a great chemistry together and although it takes a while until they admit their feelings and jump on bed, the sexual tension is present throughout the book. And anyway they both needed to take their time for different reasons each one of them. Tarekh needs to believe in himself and Cat needs to forget her horrific previous life as a slave and heal. The clever humour again is not absent, while the hot scenes between them are excellent!

Obviously Corsairs is a much darker series than Ice Planet Barbarians and it has a more intense high tech vibe.

3.5 Stars

I did the audio for this book. The male narrator is pretty popular, I have listened to him several times and I'll say it every time. He sounds too casual and he doesn't fit the Hero of the book. I like a deep male voice and he just doesn't cut it for me. I can imagine him doing a narration of a rom-com or something along those lines.

I liked the female voice and I wouldn't say she's my favorite, but she's tolerable and didn't hinder my listening experience like the male did.

I'm on the fence with this series. The books are really short and there's no smut. Sure there's a steamy scene, but other than that, it's just all fluff and a lot of lead up. I like the easy, no muss no fuss storyline, but I would have liked the books to be a little longer and a little more depth if there isn't going to be any smut.

Also this book does sound real very similar to the first book and that wasn't cool.

You have a damsel girl that is damaged so very guarded. You have a Nobel Hero and he shows her kindness. But because he is ugly he thinks he can't get a chance with her.

BUT she slowly falls in love with him.

Overall the books are great to pass the time, just wish there was more smut.

I love this book. I love this series. Let's be honest - I love Ruby Dixon. Yas Queen! Once again, she has taken the same concept and turned it into something totally different and refreshing. While I could rave about her talent all day, I will spare you from my fangirling. You're welcome.

Tarek, the beastly medic of the ship, comes across a beautifully broken female slave for sale. He feels drawn to her so he buys her with hopes to set her free. Inwardly he knows that Catrin will never be free because humans are basically illegal in outer space, but he wants to give her a chance at a better life.

Of course, Catrin doesn't believe him. Why would she after she has been treated terribly by all of the alien species? The reason she is bloodied and broken is because she is a fighter. And she is determined to fight Tarek to escape him and his ship.

So you want to know why I rated this 4 stars instead of 5, huh? It was too short. I was immensely enjoying it and then *poof* it was over. Does the book truly deserve the 4 star rating? Absolutely not; I'm just needy and needed more. I actually need more from Ruby all the time because her writing is just so good and I always hate when I finish one of her books because I didn't want that magnificent world/story to come to an end. I am on the verge of fangirling again, so I am just going to stop here. K? K.

4 Stars!

Under the Covers Book Blog says

Welcome aboard the space ship Dancing Fool. It contains a small crew of ruthless pirates looking to make their fortune. Well kinda. They're definitely pirates, however the ruthlessness is a little iffy, especially when faced with a human woman in distress.

Tarek the ships medic is used to women shuddering in revulsion at his ugly face and big bulky body. Cat was abducted and enslaved and is now cut up, bruised, battered and on the brink of dying on a seedy space station corridor. Until she is bought and patched up by a big blue alien with a rough face who tells her she is now free. But Cat isn't sure she wants to leave her big blue medic with a rough face and a heart of pure gold.

Another Ruby Dixon hit! There's nothing I love her horned and tailed blue mesakkah aliens. Whether in the Ice Planet Barbarian series – which, although set in the same universe has a completely separate and unrelated story line – or her Corsair series, they never fail to charm the pants off me. Not only because of their gorgeous bodies and big horns, but because they are just so damn adorably sweet.

And Tarek is definitely adorably sweet. His big body and uneven face just conceal the kind hearted and gentle giant he is. As soon as he sees Cat, he just wants to protect her expecting nothing in return. How can a girl not fall in love with that? Cat certainly did. I loved Cat, she was strong with a cheeky sense of humour and completely clueless about that her favourite big blue alien was in love with her.

If you are a Dixon fan already then you will love this book, it's a great addition to the series and so far my favourite. Tarek and Cat were a fantastic couple, both were playful and protective of one another; a fatal combination. If you're not a fan that just means you haven't tried the books yet!
