Few comic strips have hit the heart of the human-pet relationship the way MUTTS does. But it's the fact that the duo are everyday pets, with relationships to their owners that ring true, that makes MUTTS work." -Pet Life

I Want to Be the Kitty marks the eighth collection of this award-winning strip and is the follow-up to the successful What Now. As usual, the lovable duo of Earl the dog and his feline friend Mooch can be counted on for charming adventures and out-loud laughs.

The sweet and unique friendship of this special dog and kitty comes through in every strip. When Mooch decides one January morning he's going to hibernate by staying in bed all winter, Earl tries desperately to get him out of bed until he finds out himself how "toashty" it is, in the words of Mooch. Next thing you know, Mooch has a bedmate who announces "I'll see ya in March." The two snore though hibernation together-that is, until they are called for dinner.

With its expressive art and clever, sometimes philosophical, pet banter, MUTTS has built a large and loyal fan base among readers and fellow cartoonists worldwide. The strip has been the discussion topic of Tonight show guests (Brooke Shields), and it's earned the National Cartoonists Society's coveted Comic Strip of the Year Award. And now, as a testament to its ever-growing popularity, fans in New Jersey can show their loyalty to the strip-and animal protection-by getting a state license plate complete with Earl and Mooch and the slogan "Animal Friendly." In MUTTS, cartoonist Patrick McDonnell has created a classic strip that not only delivers consistent laughs but often a message as well.

Lucy says

a year's worth of Mutts comics, starring Mooch the cat and his friend Earl, the small dog. Great fun. Highly recommended.

Mike Jensen says

More sublime Mutts comic strips.

Jennifer Braxton says

I want to be the kitty...

Susan says

Who wouldn't want to be the cartoon kitty Mooch, who lives an idle and happy life? Or his friend Earl, a dog with an indulgent owner? But the animals don't forget those alone on the streets, or in shelters.

Kim says

typical Mutts, sweet and charming

Mary Catelli says

Another collection of Mutts cartoons, humorous, some stand-alone, some stories, and some variations on a theme.

Features Mooch and Earl trying to hibernate, Shtinky dreaming that he slept a millennium and the tigers were saved. Crabby claiming to have been caught by pirates, Mooch trying to cure Earl of all his bad habits by smacking around this newspaper (hitting the floor, not Earl). "Horror Pix" gags for Halloween.

Nurhayati Ramlan says

I swear to god, Mooch is exceptionally ridiculous and funny in this one.
I couldn't even begin to list down why.
Seriously, who would come out with smacking around rolled newspaper to cure bad habits??
Apparently, Mooch did. ahahahahaa.

"Earl, I'm going to cure all of your bad habits by shmacking around this newspaper!"
"Oh, please don't."
SMACK. SMACK. SMACK "Bad. Bad. Bad!"
"EARL, did you jump on the shofa!?! DID YOU!?!"
"No." -__-

hahahahaahahaha. rolling on the floor, laughing

Rizal says

Brilliant as usual,
witty as always,
funny? Yesh!
