Expedition Down Under Rebecca Carmi

Ms. Frizzle and the kids go all out in the outback. Catch up on all the amazing facts about the animals Down Under!

Hi, I'm Dorothy Ann. Ms. Frizzle's class ended up on the other side of the world when we went searching for the cackling kookaburra. It was a wild walk-about to Australia. We had a hopping good time racing a herd of kangaroos and survived a run-in with the terrible Tasmanian devil. Things got pretty hairy in the outback, but there's never been a field trip quite like the Expedition Down Under.

I liked it.

We like these a lot for the most part. Some of this one got up my nose and I had the narration style but the content is mostly A+

Maximilian Lee says

The title is called expedition "down under" (down under is Australia) and the book takes place in Australia Ha Ha so funny. I learned that koalas are marsupials.

Another magic school bus Christmas gift my girls LOVE!

Review by 5yo: I like it because they thought they would never get to the kookaburra but they did.

While our girls seem to prefer the colorful illustrated books that mirror the television episodes, this is an interesting tale about the creatures in Australia. We've learned quite a bit about the various unique animals that are indigenous only to Australis, but it seems like every time we read about the continent, we learn of a few more. So many different species of marsupials...who knew? In any case, it's an interesting tale and I think our youngest will appreciate the Magic School Bus chapter books in this series more in time.

I thought this was rather bleh. It moved very quickly and gave minimal information about the animals we met. You could possibly use it as a spine and when you read about a particular animal choose a book specifically about that animal, read it and then go back to the MSB book.

Overall I prefer the shorter picture books because they actually have more information than the chapter books seem to. They boys were pretty fidgety during this book and I had to keep calling them back into the room. I don't think I'll use again.

I like these books. They're fun; engage kids in the information that is enjoyable and not at all seeming like a boring list of facts shoved down the readers' throats. A little bit of imagination, and you, too, can be in the Land Down Under.

Daniel Ho says

it is well made.

So far it's interesting. Gives a lot of facts about animals from Australia. I found this more interesting than the Magnetism book...at least easier to follow. But still keeps you wondering about that kookaburra they're trying to find.

Finished it and I really liked the book. It was fun to learn facts about different animals and also some slang the Aussie's use.

Great book for kids!
