The Adventures Begin Jen Jellyfish

Take an extraordinary travel adventure with Booker T. Bear of Juneberry Square and his best friend, Dahlya Dragonfly--an oddly perfect pair! Booker's magic jacket jets them to a real-life destination on the far side of the globe where they get caught in a fiery volcano eruption, discover a very unusual life-form, and explore sites of an ancient culture.

Along the way, you'll taste the big, juicy words that Dahlya loves to eat. She even serves words at her diner, and you just never know what'll end up in her Weird Word Stew! Home from their magical adventure, the two best friends settle into Dahlya's Diner where Grandmop and Grandpop Bear, owners of the Bee-Nutty Shop, eagerly listen to their travel tale.

At the diner, Dahlya serves an appetizing buffet of fabulous facts about their discoveries and shares an easy recipe you can make with family and friends at home and at school. The Adventures Begin is the first in the four-book Booker T. Bear series. Each book is packed with exciting adventures that take readers around the globe to experience real-world destinations while leaning fantastic new words.

Shirley Revill says

Wow, Just where do I start with this absolute gem of a book other than to say my Grandchildren absolutely loved this book and I loved it as well.

This is a book that has the children begging to learn because it makes learning so much fun.

The very first thing that attracted both myself and the children to the book was the brilliant illustrations on every page.

The illustrations are by Kurt Keller and Traci Van Wagoner and you can tell by the quality of their work that they both have a creative passion for their work.

To me illustrations are a must with children's books as this is a key to keeping a child's interest plus for those that struggle with reading it really helps with understanding of what the book is about.

On to the very talented author Jen Jellyfish, M.M . . . Who is very gifted and made this book so much fun with her rhymes and her graphic design. She certainly knows how to make learning fun for children.

This book has Booker the bear and best friend Dahlya Dragonfly visiting various countries that they have marked out on the globe.

He dresses the part wearing his Jet away jacket and cap that was passed down to him from his great gran pop and is soon off on his travels trying various food on his travels.

One of the things I like about this book is that it shows the correct pronunciation of words that can be very daunting to some children.

There is even a recipe in the back for pizza so you can have even more fun with the story.

Lot's of areas for discussion with your children arising from the story and the illustrations.

I would like to say a big thank you to Goodreads,the author, illustrators and publishers for giving me a chance to read this book in exchange for a honest review. If I could give this book ten stars i would because my grandchildren have been paying me extra visits so we could share the story together.

A firm favourite on my bookshelf for future grandchildren visits but my daughter gets to bake the pizza and other foods mentioned because I love pizza.
